Interview with Piroska Páternoszter, manager

November, 2005

There have been five models implemented to support an independent and more comfortable life style of the elderly people. The apartment complex and the short-term care facility are working well. With the help of the home emergency signal system, senior citizens can take care of themselves in their own home.

A long-term residency was established in downtown, and another one in an active environment.

“On the foundation of our personal experiences we have recommended these five models, because the city prepared the conception plan of the service, we assessed the needs. We have found that one of the most dominant desires of the senior citizens in Győr is to reside in their own home as long as possible, nevertheless they need substantial help to accomplish this.” (Piroska Páternoszter)
